FOREWORD

As we look back over the past year, the word PROGRESS inevitably comes to mind. Progress has been evident in many ways. First, there has been the conversion of R.H.S. to a three-year school, with the former freshman class now the ninth grade of the junior high school.

With the completion of the new Rutland Junior High School adjoining our building, there has been a resulting improvement in our facilities. A spacious modern gymnasium is now available for physical education classes and athletic events. The colorful surroundings of the new cafeteria have added to the enjoyment of the lunch period. Lastly, changes in our own building, notably new science and music rooms, have already proved their value in enrichment of the curriculum.

It is with pride that we present this volume as a lasting pictorial narrative of our memorable years at Rutland High School.

DEDICATION

We, the Class of 1958, dedicate the Talisman to Mr. Lewis F. McKerley. As head of the Business Education Department and as Talisman Business Adviser, he has given many years of service to Rutland High School. It is in the latter role that we wish to acknowledge the vital part which his sound judgment and skillful handling of the financial affairs of our book have played in its success. For all his tireless, behind-the-scenes efforts, we say "Thank you"

TRATION

Principal
Maynard C. Robinson

We have had in our principal a true friend with a deep and sympathetic understanding of youth. Skilled in coping with problems of students and teachers alike, he has won our respect and admiration.

Appointed assistant principal this year, Mr. Sloan has also shown a great interest in the affairs of our class.

The seniors wish to thank both of you for the many things you have done for us.

Assistant Principal
George H. Sloan

Director of Guidance
Edward C. Miller

GUID

Mr. Miller assumed the position of Director of Guidance in September 1957, with an extensive and successful background of experience in the field of student guidance and counseling. Assisting him in helping us with our problems were Miss Buttles and Mrs. Hinchey.

Even with schedule changes heaped on their desks, and records bulging out of the files waiting to be checked, they were always ready to lend a helping hand.

We thank those whose greatest reward is the satisfaction of seeing a student succeed.

FELLOW CLASSMATES

We have now completed four years of high school education. During this time we have made many wonderful friends and have had many experiences the memory of which we shall cherish all our lives.

Now each must go his own way. Some will continue to college or other institutions of higher learning; some will enter business or other fields of endeavor, each according to his own dictates. There is one fact, however, which we must remember. Education does not end here; on the contrary, it is just beginning. Learning is a process which we must pursue relentlessly and continuously for the rest of our lives.

Our generation will be faced with a host of new problems. Those of interplanetary travel, nuclear energy, and automation are only a few which will occupy our minds. We must attack these problems with knowledge, with diligence, with courage. Our high school education is the first stepping-stone in meeting these challenges successfully.

Now is the time to say goodbye. In closing, I wish to express for my class our sincere appreciation to our parents, our school officials, our faculty, and everyone who has had a part in making this graduation possible.

John Tomasi
President of the Class of 1958

TALISMAN STAFF

ASSOCIATE EDITOR
Joan Peterson

EDITOR-IN-CHIEF
Donna Kennedy

The life of an editorial staff member is a busy one. There are pictures to be taken, layouts to be planned, copy to be written, and deadlines to be met.

The business staff is concerned with equally important activities, which mean the financial success of the yearbook.

Behind the scenes are the advisers, directing and co-ordinating, correcting and approving. At last the great task is completed. All who have had even a small part in the preparation of this book experience a glow of satisfaction at a job well done. Now there remains the greatest thrill of all, that of seeing the fruit of their efforts—the 1958 TALISMAN.

"The chauffeur won't hear of it."

SABRINA FAIR

Lights! Curtain! These familiar last second backstage commands heralded Sabrina Fair, the senior class play, on November 14 and 15 in the auditorium.

Directed by Mrs. Mildred G. Crowley, the comedy-drama of life among the wealthy on a Long Island estate and the romance of the son of an aristocratic family with the chauffeur's daughter was well acted by a large and competent cast. Playing leading roles were Kathy Thurston, David Kibbey, Penny Smith, Judy Robinson, Stuart Seager, Gretchen Miller, Doreen Hector, Walter Douglas, Paul Hill, and David Kennedy.

They were supported by a group of seniors in the role of dance guests.

ENGLISH

The English courses at R.H.S. are designed to teach us to use our own language, spoken and written, to the best of our ability. We also read and learn to appreciate great literature of the past and present. An elective course in speech helps the student develop poise and personality through such activities as debating, choral speaking, and the interpretation of poetry and plays.

Mrs. Merusi is an interested listener as member of speech class carry on a conversation.

ENGLISH DEPARTMENT

Carolyn L. Allen, Pauline W. Merusi, Joseph Teta, Madeline Flynn, Head of Department; Katherine C. Hinchey.

A senior college preparatory group reviews principles of paragraph construction under Mrs. Hinchey's direction before beginning an essay writing project.

Mr. Teta conducts review for a test on Elizabethan poetry with an English IV class.

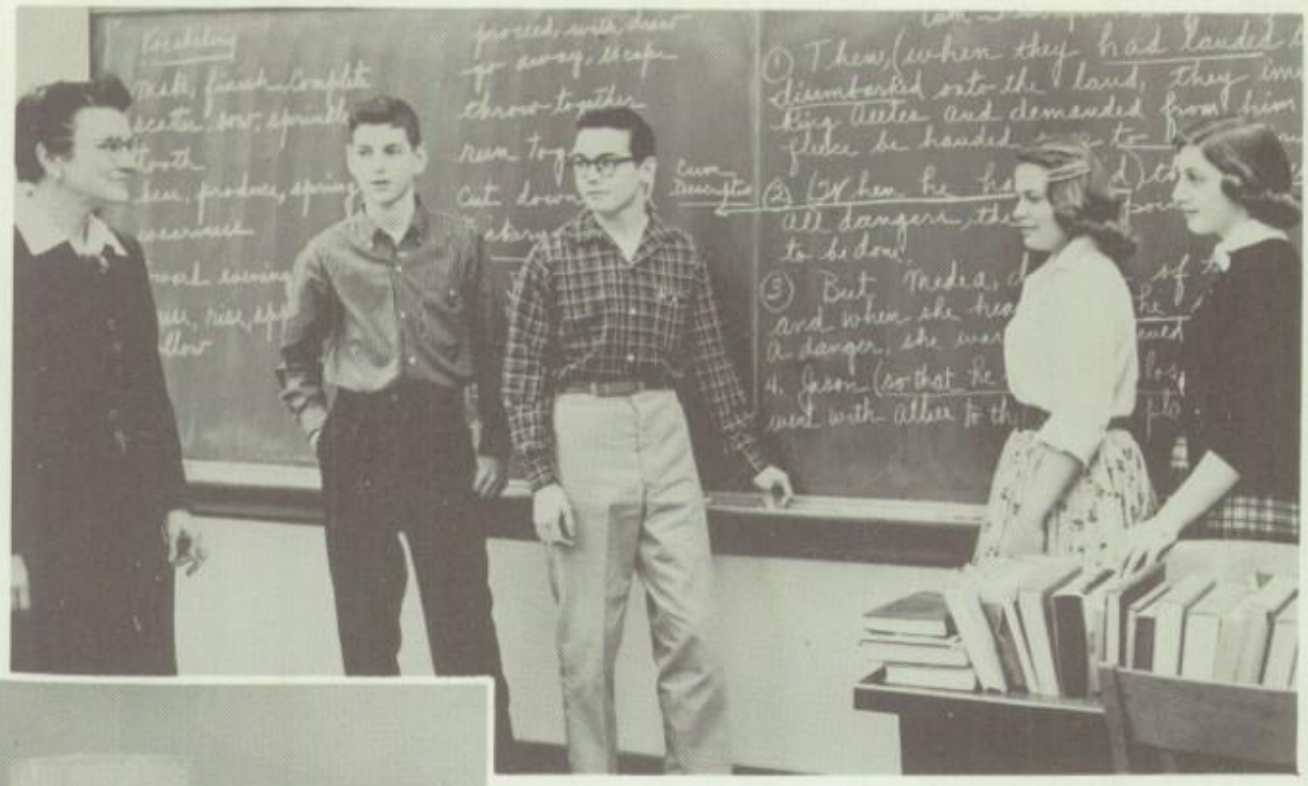
Sophomores Norman MacKenzie, Sylvia Taylor, and Gale Johnson discuss a story in Practical English with Miss Allen.

Mrs. Merusi assists Sandra Collins, William Carroll, Patricia Champney, and Frank Hinchey to find material for a short story unit in English II.

An English III class under Miss Flynn's direction use their composition handbooks for reference in revising themes.

LANGUAGE

A study of languages acquaints the student with the cultures of other peoples, ancient and modern. A knowledge of language is an indispensable part of the background of the well educated person.



Miss Buttles conducts a review of sequence of tenses in a Latin II class.

LANGUAGE DEPARTMENT
Carolyn L. Allen, Bjorg Jensen, Madeline S. Buttles.

Miss Jensen explains a point in French grammar to Kim Chaffee, Russell Edwards, and Sue Eastwood.

SOCIAL SCIENCE

The social sciences provide the student not only with a knowledge of the past but also with an opportunity of becoming acquainted with today's problems and opportunities. Courses in United States history, world history, modern history, economics, and sociology are offered.

SOCIAL SCIENCE DEPARTMENT
Katherine M. Moran, Hugh Short.

Members of a world history class hold a panel discussion of the various religious philosophies in the development of American democracy.

Mr. Short discusses material for a panel discussion with members of a modern history class.

Miss Moran explains the effect of population shifts on economic growth in the U.S.

MATHEMATICS

The study of mathematics is assuming greater importance than ever as we enter the Atomic Age. Courses offered in this field prepare the student for careers in business, science, and engineering.

MATHEMATICS DEPARTMENT
Edmund L. Boyce, Head of Department; Albert W. Martin.

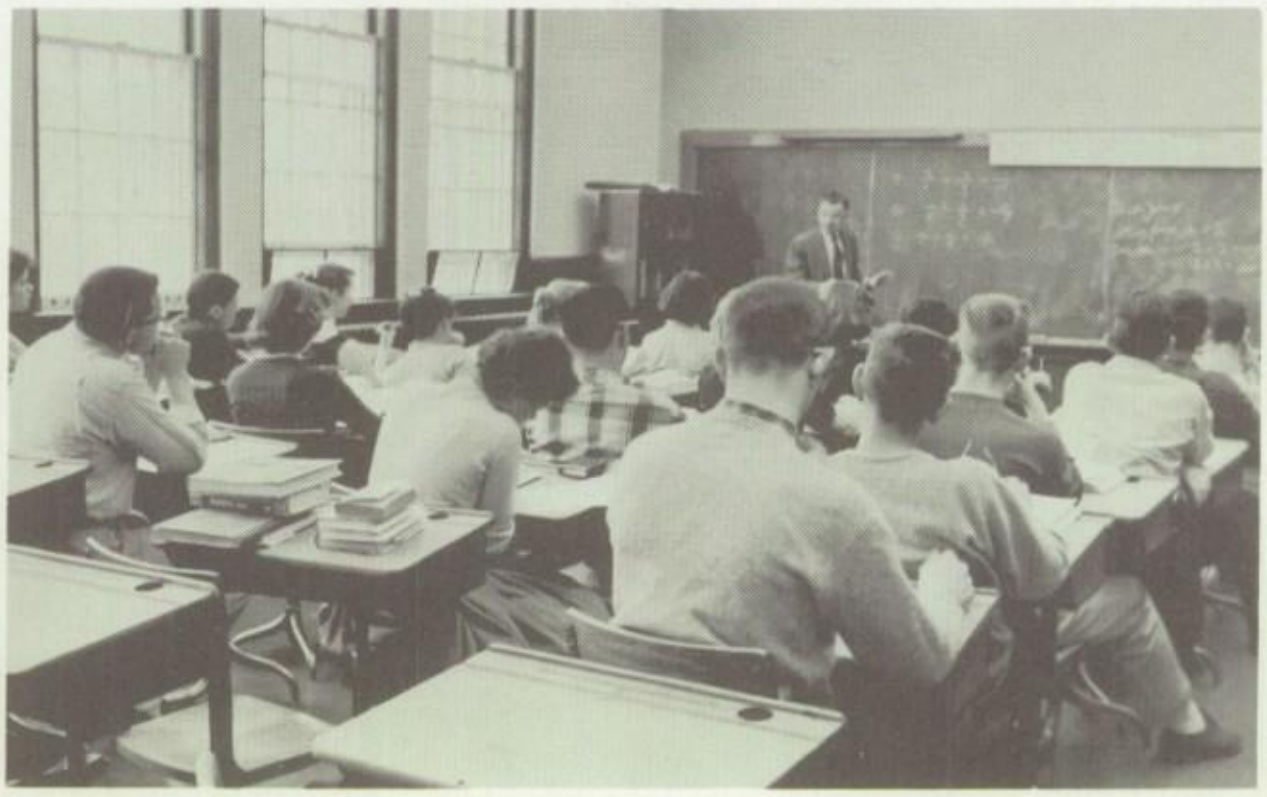
Walter Douglas, Ernest Ruppe, and Jane Thomas work out a solution on pyramids in a solid geometry class.



Mr. Boyce explains systems of equations containing unknowns of the first degree to a group in Algebra II.

SCIENCE

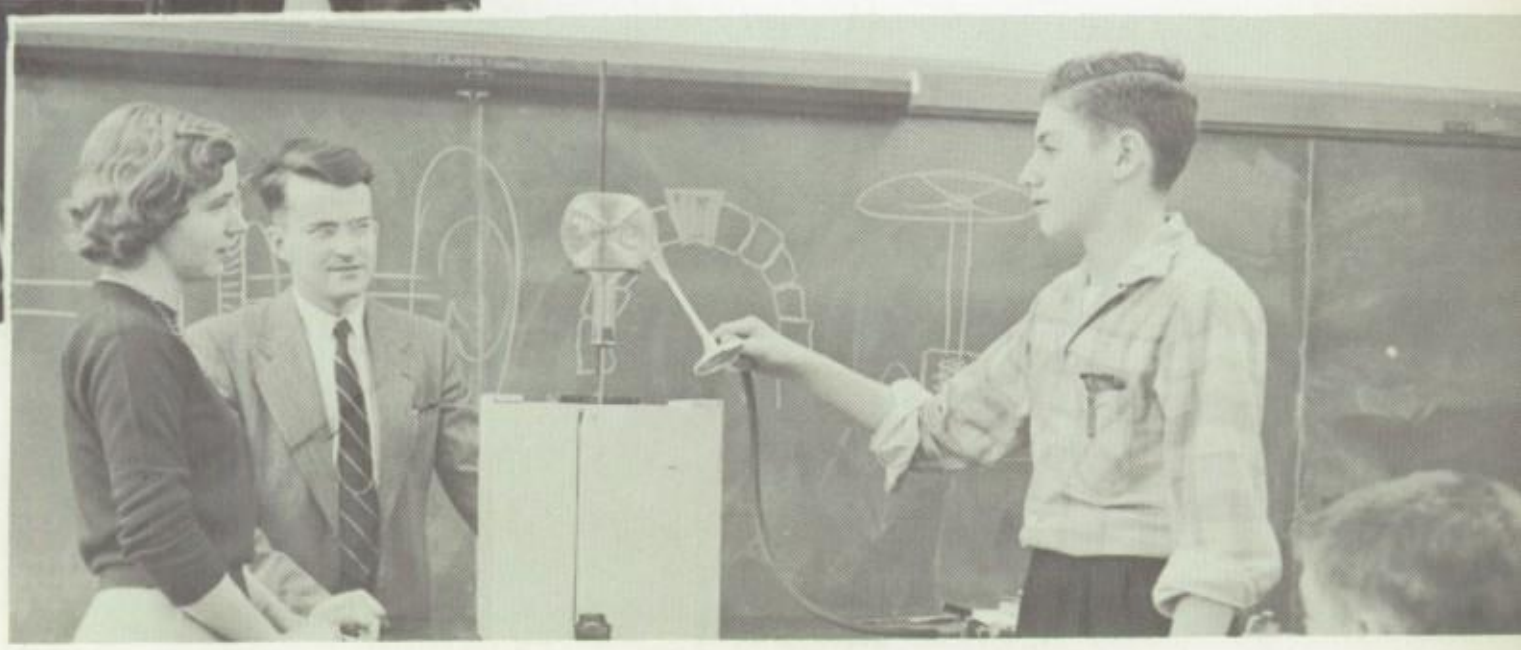
In this age of satellites and with space travel a probability of tomorrow, science is assuming an ever increasing importance. A large number of students at R.H.S. are enrolled in the various science courses, many building the foundation for future careers in science and engineering.

SCIENCE DEPARTMENT

Dean Rippon, Leo F. Keefe, George H. Sloan, Head of Department; John B. Martin, James L. Canary.

A senior chemistry class watches as Ralph Davis and Larry Beale perform an experiment on ionization.

Biology students study insects and their effect on our environment.



Alan Levenson and Joann Russell experiment with an airbulb thermometer as Anthony Coarse and Mr. Martin look on.

BUSINESS EDUCATION

The development of industry makes business education an important part of the high school curriculum. Students may elect secretarial, general business, or clerical programs. Many from the college preparatory course enroll in typing classes.

BUSINESS EDUCATION DEPARTMENT
Peter Goshgarian, Mildred G. Crowley, Lewis F. McKerley, Head of Department.

Mr. Goshgarian explains a tax problem to a class in applied business principles.

Salesmanship student Wayne Johnston demonstrates product to John Blanchard.

Mrs. Crowley gives speed test to a typing II class.

HOMEMAKING

To provide young women with skill in the household arts as well as to prepare them for family living, Rutland High offers a variety of homemaking courses. Foods, clothing, child care and home nursing, budgeting, and home decoration are some of the subjects covered.

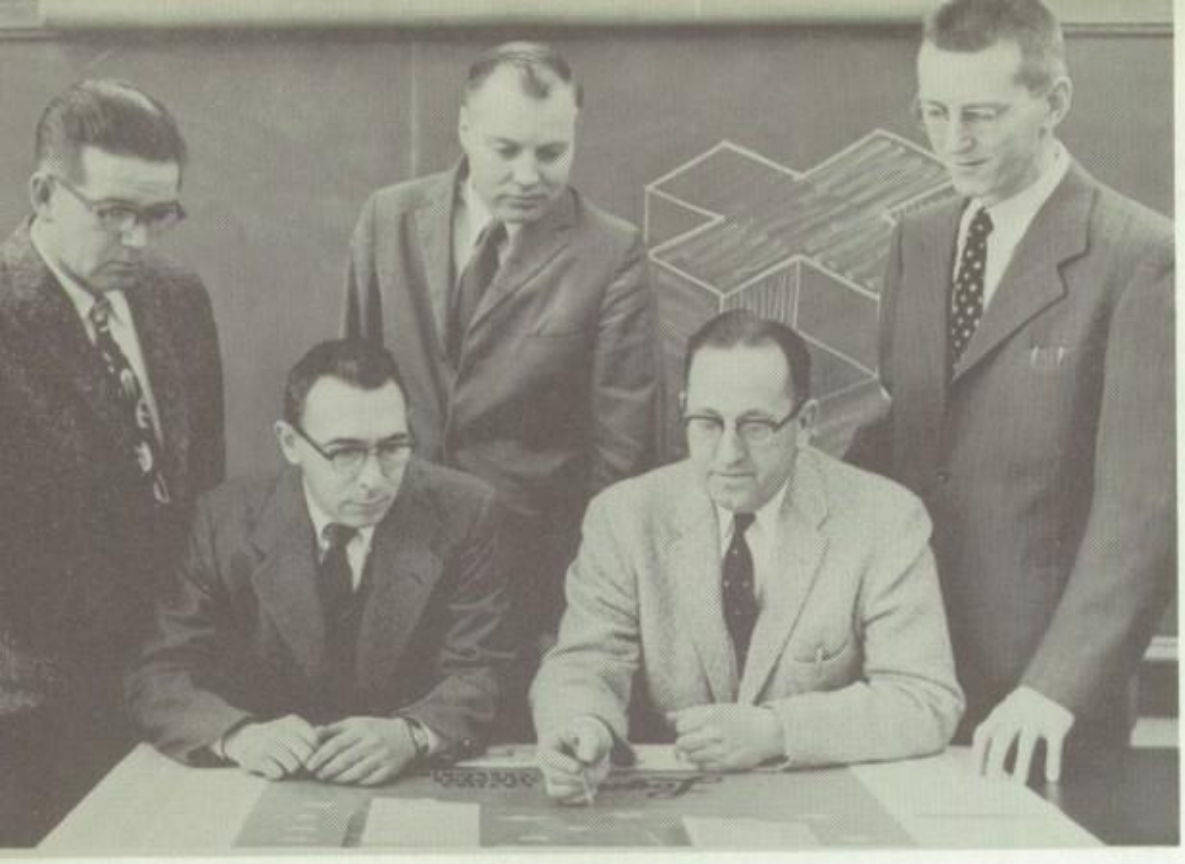
Helen W. Sloan
Teacher of Homemaking

Linda Fish prepares to serve Mrs. Sloan, Kathleen Crowley, and Jean Tyler.

A class in advanced clothing work on individual projects.

TRADE

Trade courses at R.H.S. consist of woodworking, auto mechanics, sheet metal and machine shop. They enable the students enrolled in them to learn a profitable trade. Many boys on graduation go right into the shops and garages of our city.



TRADE SCHOOL
Seated: Richard P. Hebert, Henry L. Doll, Director. Standing: Charles Manchester, Carroll G. Hull, William R. Miller.

Mr. Miller instructs a group in the use of the Roll-in-Metal cutting bandsaw.

Students admire an example of good workmanship in the woodworking shop.

The vertical miller is object of attention in the machine shop.

Boys receive a lesson in motor tune-up from Mr. Hull.

Members of oil painting class pause to look at each other's work.

Lucy H. Doane, Art Supervisor.

ART

The art classes enrich the lives of students by enabling them to acquire proficiency in the various art media as well as to develop standards of taste and judgment and an appreciation of the beautiful.

Mr. Alexander conducts a class in music appreciation.

Jack W. Alexander, Director of Music.

The band holds a daily rehearsal.

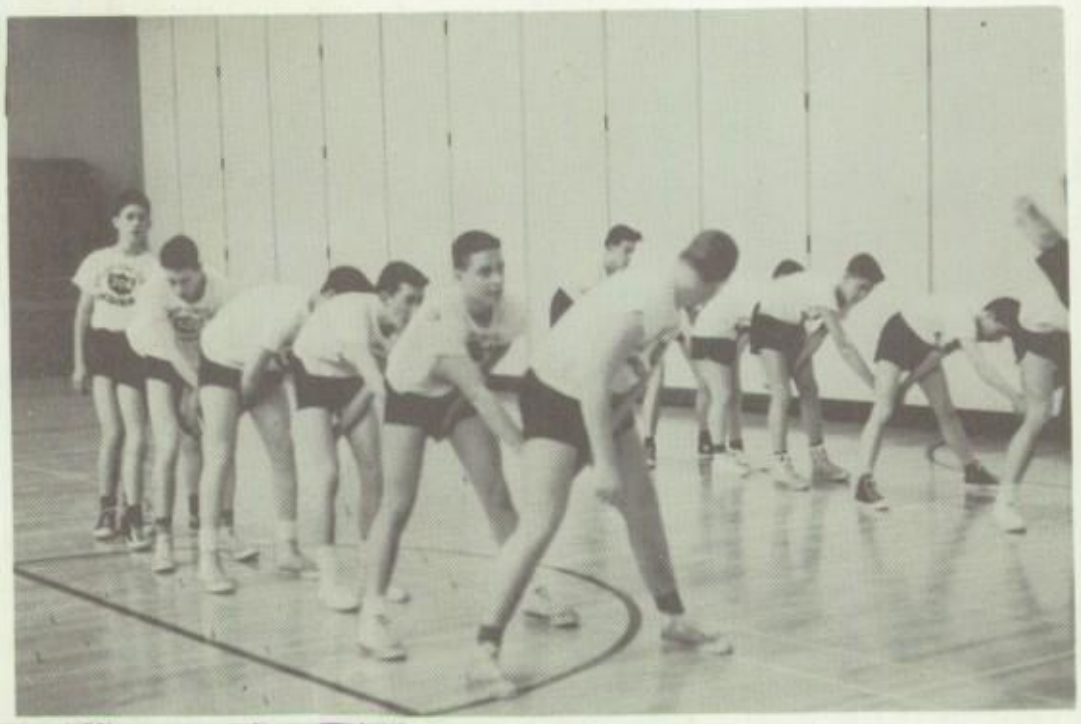
MUSIC

The various organizations of this department are open to all students interested in music. Courses in music appreciation and harmony are offered as supplements to the instrumental and choral groups.

PHYSICAL EDUCATION

Physical education affords the student a chance to develop coordination and physical skills and fosters the spirit of group cooperation and good sportsmanship through a variety of healthful recreational activities.

PHYSICAL EDUCATION DEPARTMENT
Eve Bartenstein, Dean Rippon.



A boys' gym class takes part in a team relay race.

Members of a physical education class engage in lively game of soccer.

Basketball is a favorite indoor gym activity.

STUDENT COUNCIL

James Maynes, Secretary-Treasurer; David Kibbey, President; Alan Ellis, Vice-President.

"Inspection!" This familiar cry once again heralded a Student Council group on the weekly check of home rooms. Other activities were distribution of Thanksgiving baskets for the needy, selling candy after school, coat checking at basketball games and concerts, and selecting a Student of the Week.

The council is composed of the presidents of all home rooms and council officers, who are elected by vote of the student body.

Alan Ellis, Ralph Davis, and James Maynes represented R.H.S. at the state Student Council convention in Burlington.

NATIONAL HONOR SOCIETY

Membership in the National Honor Society is the highest honor a student at Rutland High School can attain. Seven seniors, chosen at the end of their junior year for character, leadership, scholarship and service, composed this year's group. Sponsorship of the Share project for retarded children at Christmas and selling candy at basketball games were two activities of the group.

BOYS' AND GIRLS' STATE

Rutland High was represented by eight boys and five girls at Boys' and Girls' State held respectively at Norwich University and Vermont Junior College last June. There they carried on model states, learning the working of our Vermont government and the principles of good citizenship. These states are sponsored by the American Legion and Auxiliary.

Tarbell, H. Spafford, R. Burke, R. Stearns, L. Adams, J. Tomasi.

Twenty-nine seniors, chosen at the end of their junior year, comprised this year's Monitor Squad. Leadership, reliability, and an interest in service are the criteria for membership. Holding regular meetings twice a month, the monitors discussed hall traffic problems and planned money-raising events. The annual semi-formal dance was held in November.

Monitors start for their posts.

Fudge sales are popular.

I.R.C.

A talk by Miss Elsa Manfredi, visiting teacher from Italy, was one of several outstanding programs enjoyed by members of the International Relations Club this year. Miss Jensen, exchange teacher from Norway, also addressed the group. An assembly program, a dance, "Mistletoe Magic," and sponsorship of the U.N. examination contest were other activities. Officers were Marlene Brown, President; Larry Dugan, Vice-President; Susan Davis, Secretary; and Fred Hector, Treasurer.

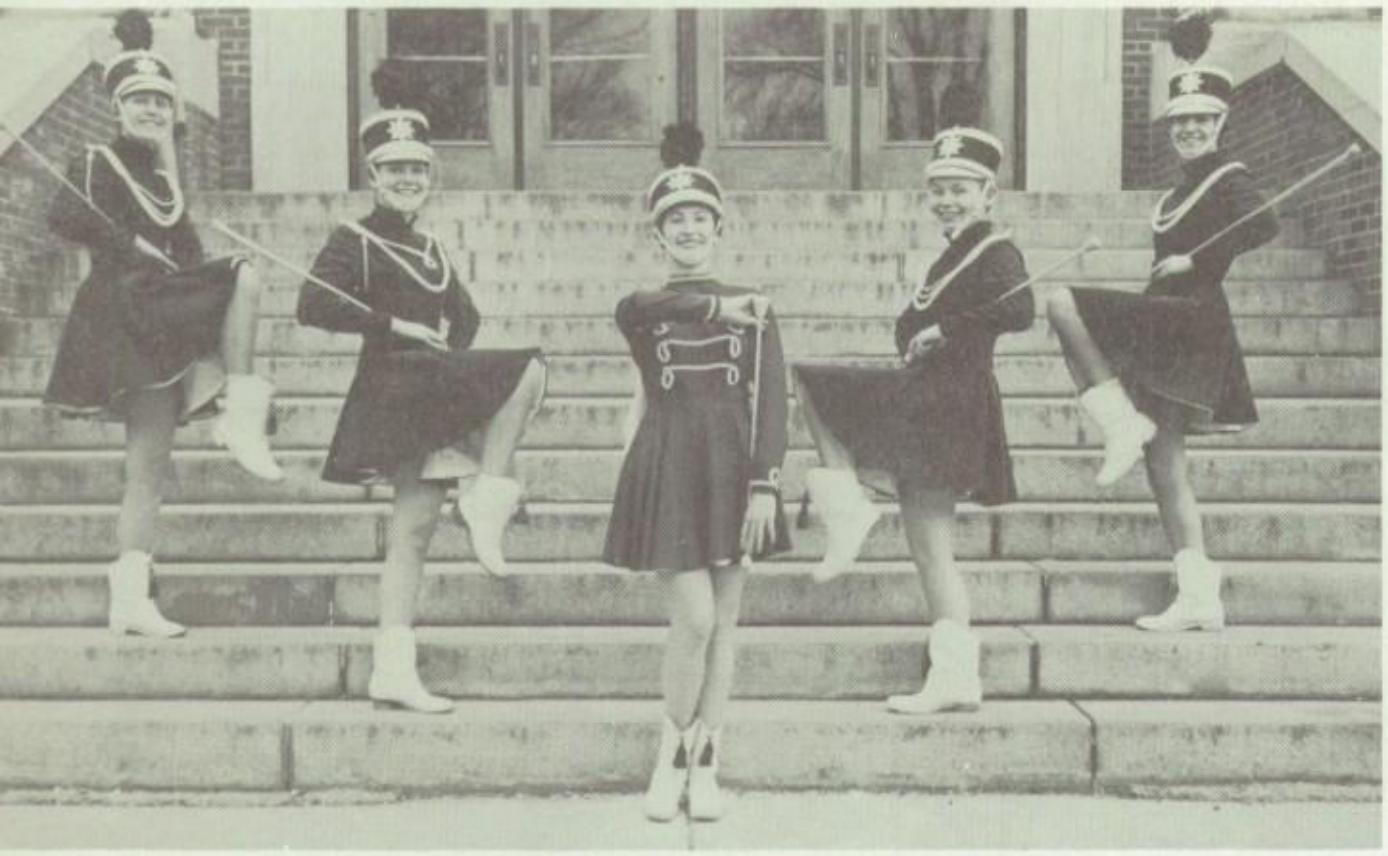
MAJORETTES



Left to right: Gail Carmichael, Joan LaCoe, Mary O'Connell, Sandra Hubbard, Kendra Day.

Composed of five senior girls, the majorettes add color and spirit at football games and pep rallies with intricate routines and baton twirling. They also march with the band when it represents Rutland High School in parades.

During the year the group staged various projects to earn money to pay for new uniforms which were purchased in the fall.

R.H.S. majorettes are colorful feature of Veterans' Day parade.

Left to right: Diane Hubbard, Gloria Gould, Patricia Champney, Wendy Murphy, Barbara Champney, Lynn Stafford.

A new feature of R.H.S. extracurricular activity this past year was a series of workshops held after school every Monday and Thursday during the fall to train interested girls in the art of twirling and marching. After tryouts six of the candidates were chosen to be members of next year's squad.

Pictured above are leaders and participants in the majorette workshops.

LIBRARY COUNCIL

"Explore with Books" was the subject of a Book Week assembly presented by the Library Council. Members also arranged book displays and helped to select new books. Sandra Shorey was chairman and Joanne White business manager of the council.

FOOTBALL

The Red Raiders had a good 1957 season, with five wins, two losses, and a tie. Such arch rivals as Cathedral, Spaulding of Barre, Springfield, Bennington, and Mount Saint Joseph went down before the Warrior attack while Rutland bowed to Brattleboro and Burlington. The lone tie was with Bellows Falls. Scorewise, the Raiders totaled 103 points on 16 touchdowns and 7 conversions, while limiting their opponents to 46 points.

Quarterback Ernie Ruppe carried off top honors by scoring six touchdowns and one conversion. Bob Bordeau was runner-up with 32 points. Bernie Mangan was chosen tackle on the All-State eleven.

BASKETBALL

Leo F. Keefe
Varsity Coach

The coveted Southern Vermont tournament championship climaxed a superlative 22 and 1 record for this year's Red Raiders, as they ran roughshod over the best teams of both northern and southern Vermont. Composed of six of last year's letter men and four junior varsity veterans, the team went into S.V.L. play with an 8 and 0 slate. From then on, the Raiders defeated thoroughly every club in the south with the exception of Springfield on the latter's home court.

Rutland had two good shooting forwards in Bernie Mangan and Walt Scott. Bob Sawyer at center proved to be the best pivot man in the south and perhaps in the state. The backcourt duo were Bundsie Keefe and Ernie Ruppe, two hard-driving and sharp-shooting guards. The strong Raider bench was composed of Tim Russell, Bob Stearns, Bob Donahue, Don Gilman, and Dave Pratt.

These were the boys who went down to Springfield and put the icing on their own cake. Chief factors in their success were confidence in each other, team play, and determination to win. Their record places them among the greatest teams in Rutland High School history.

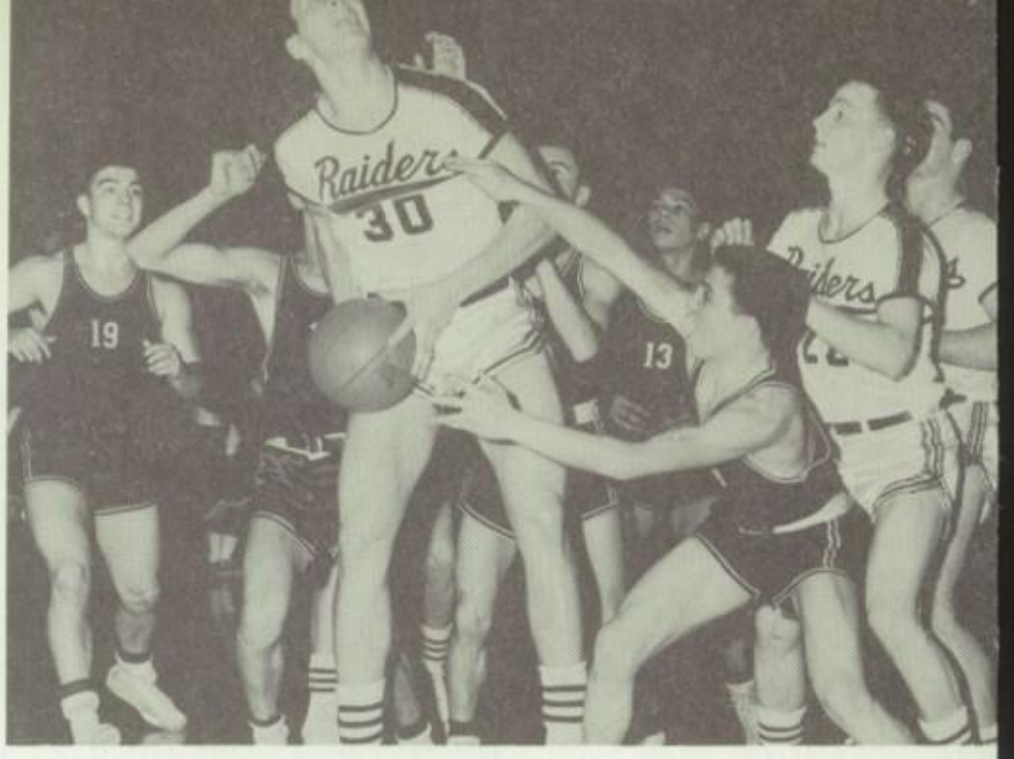
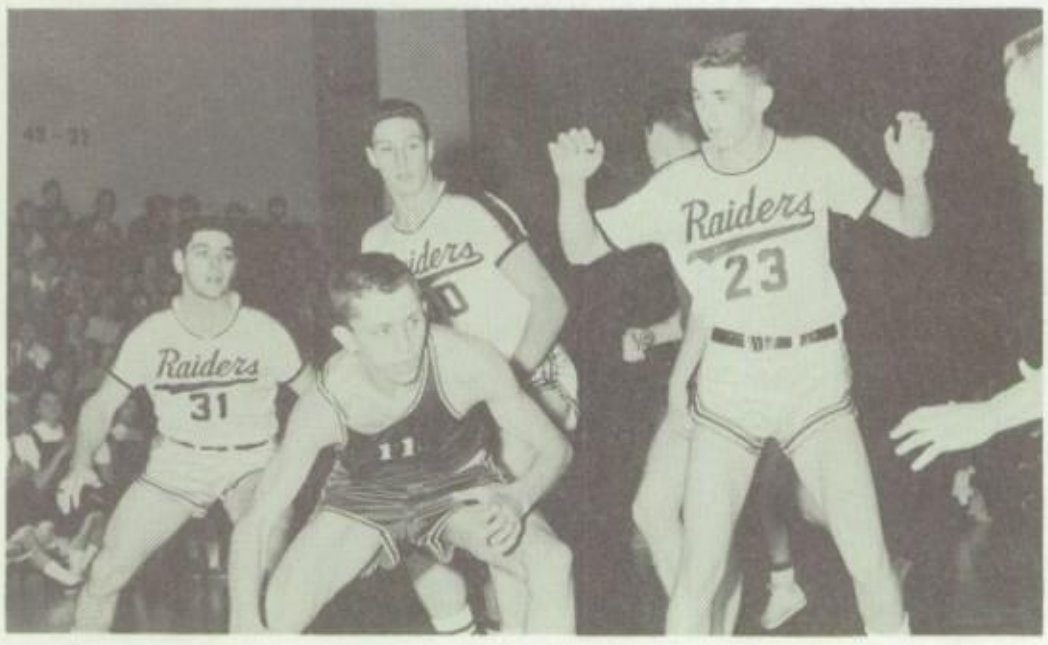
Keefe attempts to block a shot by Elliott of Windsor during regular season game.

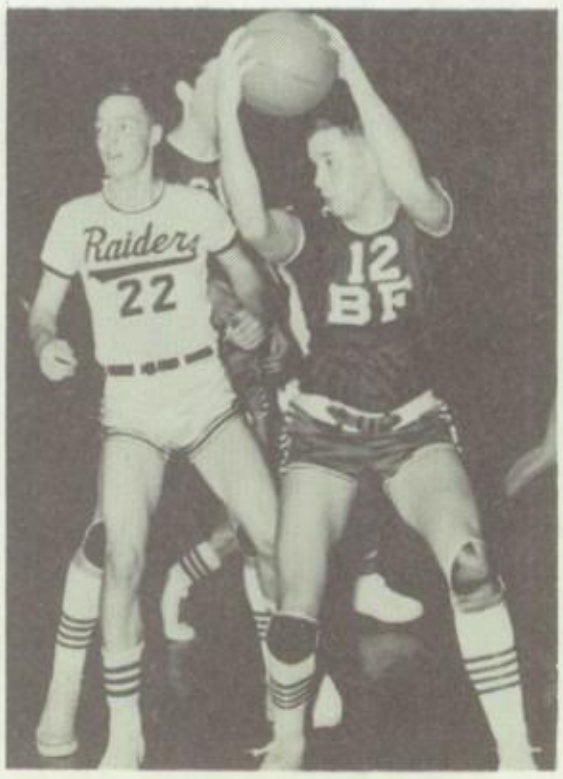


Cioffi of M.S.J. and Sawyer enact David and Goliath roles in exciting moment of city series contest.



Burgess of M.S.J. dribbles against a solid line of Rutland defenders.

Sawyer of R.H.S. and Wilkinson of Bennington appear to be indulging in a friendly game of leap frog.



Switzer of Bellows Falls controls rebound in tourney contest.

JUNIOR VARSITY SQUAD

Seated, left to right: Joseph Teta, Coach; R. Edwards, W. Davis, E. Armstrong, W. Carroll, J. Ruppe. Standing: N. Duby, Manager; W. Davidson, R. Davidson, N. MacKenzie, J. Welch, G. Sargeant, D. Larrabee, M. Johnson.

Joseph Teta
Junior Varsity Coach

Compiling a creditable 13 and 10 record, the Jayvees averaged 40.9 points a game to their opponents' 36.6 mark. Twelve sophomores composed the squad. Dave Larrabee with 198 points led the scoring, following by George Sargeant with 164 and Bill Carroll with 121 tallies. The team was coached by Joseph Teta, who is also head baseball and J.V. football coach.

Fifty boys from the sophomore, junior, and senior classes took part in the intramural league. They formed six teams, playing a 15 game schedule under the supervision of Coaches Lee Keefe and Hugh Short. Individual trophies will be presented to the members of the winning squad. With only two games to go, Dartmouth and Yale were tied with a 10 and 3 record.

INTRAMURAL LEAGUE

CROSS COUNTRY TEAM
Left to right: M. Gallagher, N. MacKenzie, H. Spafford, D. Sargent, Hugh Short, Coach; M. Stevens, R. Reinertsen, K. Chaffee, R. Doner, L. Cabell, R. Doner.

A new sport at Rutland High School, cross country, under the tutelage of Coach Hugh Short, proved successful in its first season. After winning its first meet, the team slacked off under stiff competition, but in the state meet at Burlington Mike Gallagher made a name for himself and R.H.S. by placing first in a large field of runners. The team placed third, thus gaining an automatic berth in the New England meet. Although placing last in this event, Mike Gallagher came in tenth, highest that a Vermont boy has ever placed.

GOLF

The golf team under the guiding hand of Coach Lloyd Flaitz competed in only one tournament, which was held last fall. Since most golf meets take place in the spring, Rutland may yet come into the limelight in this sport.

GOLF TEAM
Kneeling, left to right: T. Russell, R. Donahue, A. Russo. Standing: A. Ravenna, D. Parker.

GIRLS' SKI TEAM

This year the girls' ski team concentrated its efforts on gaining skill in all phases of racing. Under the direction of Coach Joe Jones, the girls practiced slalom, down hill racing, schussing, and stem turns. Members of the squad are Joan Anderson, Jane Thomas, Mary Ellen Ryan, Martha Hakins, Susan Lewis, Hedy Page, Barbara Dooley, Susan Davis, Patricia Arnold, and Carole Bresnehan. Mrs. Bartenstein is faculty adviser.

SKIING

Captained by Mike Gallagher, the boys' ski team early in the season saw several meets cancelled first by lack of snow and then by too much drifting snow. However, competing at Okemo early in January, Coach Martin's hardwood men skied their way to first place ahead of Burr and Burton and Black River. Later in the month the R.H.S. squad travelled to Middlebury where they placed fourth behind Middlebury, Woodstock, and Burlington. At the Southern Vermont District Contest at Putney, Rutland failed to place high enough for a berth in the state meet. At the Rutland Winter Carnival, however, Mike Gallagher and Kim Chaffee placed third and seventh respectively in the N.E. Junior Slalom Championships.

BOYS' SKI TEAM

CHEERLEADERS

Left to right: Betty Cioffi, Joan Anderson, Joan Tomasi, Martha Russell, Martha Hakins, Jeanne Laird, Judith Leonard.

Numbering two junior and five senior girls, this year's squad, with money left from last year and by selling programs at football games, was able to purchase new uniforms for both the football and basketball seasons. Joan Anderson and Martha Russell represented R.H.S. at the Southern Vermont Cheerleaders' Convention at Springfield, and Joan was elected its president. Spurring on the J.V. team were two squads of peppy sophomore and junior girls, who alternated in cheering at the games.

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

We wish to express our appreciation of the assistance which so many people have given us in preparing our 1958 TALISMAN. In particular, we wish to thank

Mrs. Katherine Hinchey, our editorial adviser, for her advice and countless hours of work;

Mr. Lewis McKerley, our business adviser, for his expert direction of the business staff;

Mr. Norm Porter, for his unfailing co-operation and excellent photography;

Mr. William Bartlett for his fine pictures in the advertising section;

Mr. Aldo Merusi, for his action and informal pictures, especially in the sports section;

Miss Lucy Doane, for her advice on the art work;

Progress Publishers, Inc., for their excellent service;

The entire staff, for their diligence and effort;

Our patrons, patronesses, and advertisers, without whose financial support our task would have been impossible.

Donna Kennedy, Editor-in-chief
Joan Peterson, Associate Editor
